Former Gov. Sigler Dies In Plane Crash

Three Others Perish

Ex-Nebraskan Was Probably Blinded By Michigan Fog

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Former Gov. Kim Sigler was killed late Monday in a plane crash as spectacular as his brief political career. Three companions died with the former Nebraskan.

Sigler's private, four-passenger plane, apparently blinded by fog, rammed into either the top of a 540-foot television tower or a guy wire supporting it. Sigler, a veteran flier, apparently was at the controls.

With one wing sheered off, the fuselage sailed crazily for three-quarters of a mile, then crashed and burned in a woods.

The silver-haired, 59-year-old ex-governor, as colorful a figure as ever hit the Michigan political scene, was found dead in the wreckage. Two other bodies were found in the plane, and the third was 20 yards away. The three bodies in the plane were badly charred.

The other victims were Sigler's secretary, Mrs. Ruth Prentice, 41; her sister, Mrs. Virginia Schuyler, 28, and Mrs. Schuyler's husband, Harold, 37, all of nearby Lansing.

Flery Prosecutor
Sigler's two Lansing law partners, Victor C. Anderson and Leonard W. Carr Jr., were rushed to the scene by state police and made the identifications.

Sigler, who rose to prominence as a fiery grand jury prosecutor, had been on a combined business-pleasure trip to New Orleans. He and his party had stopped off at Natchez, Miss. Sunday they were weathered-in in Ohio.

Monday the party made a stop at South Bend, Ind. It was believed that because of the fog Sigler might have been coming in for a landing at Kellogg Field, only three or four miles from the television tower, instead of going on to Lansing.

He had called his office in Lansing less than an hour before the crash to say he would be home shortly.

The television tower toppled over a few minutes after the crash and smashed through the roof of the transmitter building. The tower, that of Battle Creek UHF station WBCB-TV, is near Augusta, eight miles northeast of here.

Sigler, a Republican, was governor for one two-year term in 1947-48. Then he was defeated by the present Democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, who has held the office since then.

Before turning to politics he won renown as prosecutor of a one-man grand jury that sent numerous legislators and lobbyists to prison for bribe-taking or bribe-giving.

In winning the governorship he defeated Democratic Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner by 360,000 votes. Two years later he was beaten by Williams by 164,000 votes in a political nose-dive almost as spectacular as his rise.

Max Whipple, a farmer living near the tower, said he was milking in the barn when he heard a loud crash. He said he looked up and saw flames in a nearby woods.

The television station, owned by the Michigan Broadcasting Co., is not yet in operation. It plans to begin programs the first of the year.

Where Former Michigan Governor Died

Firemen attempt to extinguish blazing wreckage of a plane which crashed during a heavy fog after striking a TV station tower nine miles west of Battle Creek Monday.

Sigler Frequent Nebraska Visitor

A frequent visitor to Nebraska, Kim Sigler was born and reared in the Cornhusker state.

He was born May 2, 1894, while the family resided in Schuyler. Later the Siglers lived in Silver Creek and Gothenburg where Kim's father served as a veterinarian.

The younger Sigler received his college education in Michigan.

A sister, Mrs. Russell Holmes, resides at Gothenburg where the former Michigan governor visited frequently. Other relatives in Nebraska include his cousins, Mrs. Charles Hogel, Will Stone and Elmer Stone, all of Schuyler; an uncle, Will Sigler of Lincoln, and an aunt, Mrs. Abbie Van Housen, also of Lincoln.

In May, 1947, Sigler returned to Gothenburg for the 50th reunion of the Gothenburg High School Alumni Association.

11 Water Line Specification Changes Okayed By Council

Eleven revisions, two of them aimed directly at encouraging more competitive bidding, in the city's specifications covering construction of the new $3.8 million water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln have been approved by the City Council.

The revisions in regards to competitive bidding knock out the requirement that contractors and material suppliers must show at least five years experience in their field. With this change, the city must bear the responsibility of determining the ability of the contractor and material supplier to perform the work involved.

Instead of the five year requirement, contractors and material suppliers must show they have adequate facilities to do the work and have done work of a similar nature in the past. Inquiries have been received, said Mayor Clark Jeary, as to whether or not firms could, under the old specifications, combine their facilities for a joint bid. Such contractors, he said, feared they could not show they had five years experience as a combination although they could more than meet the requirements individually.

The five years experience on material suppliers, he said, might have eliminated bids on certain types of pipe.

The other 10 revisions all covered technical points that were either omitted or incorrectly stated in the original specifications.

According to City Engineer D. L. Erickson, 57 copies of the plans and specifications on the pipe line have been issued. Bids are to be received on the project Dec. 10.

The next big bid opening day on the water system improvement will be Dec. 16 when quotations will be received on $253,700 in improvements at the 51st Street pumping station, $42,500 in new pumps at Ashland and $90,100 in equipment for installation at the city's A Street pumping station.

60 Pints Of Local Blood Shipped Out Quickly To Japan

Sixty pints of blood collected in Lincoln Monday by the Red Cross bloodmobile were on their way late Monday night to Japan by air for emergency use.

Harold Hill of the local Red Cross chapter said the 60 pints of Type O blood were picked up by a special truck at 4:30 p.m. here, and were processed in Omaha and then flown from there Monday night to Travis Air Force Base in California for shipment to Japan.

There was no announcement of why the blood was needed.

The bloodmobile collected a total of 213 pints Monday, 13 over its quota. A total of 237 persons visited the bloodmobile at the Scottish Rite Temple but 24 were rejected for various reasons.

Strike Hits 7th Major N.Y. Paper

Herald Tribune Is Shut Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The Herald Tribune suspended publication Monday night, leaving New York without a major newspaper for the first time in its publishing history. Newsstands throughout the city were all but bare.

The city's six other big newspapers—three morning and three afternoon—already were closed tight by a two-day strike of AFL photoengravers, the first major tieup in the industry in eight years.

Out of town newspapers were in hot demand as more than 5 million daily newspaper readers scrambled for a shred of published news in New York—where more papers are sold every day than anywhere in the world outside of London.

Although not a target of the wage strike, the Herald Tribune quit in sympathy with its rivals even as type was being set for its Tuesday morning editions.

No Lever
The newspaper said it sympathized with true efforts of rival publishers and would not let itself be used as a lever to force a strike settlement on harassed competitors.

The Herald Tribune's announcement quoted an unidentified strike leader as saying, "If the Herald Tribune is publishing and the Times is closed, it won't stay closed long."

The Times and the Herald Tribune compete in the conservative circulation field against the mass circulation morning tabloids, the Daily News and the Mirror.

Negotiators in the strike late Monday night adjourned without reaching agreement. They will meet again at noon Tuesday.

Giant presses of the New York Times were still Sunday for the first time in 102 years of uninterrupted publication. In the afternoon field, the New York Post missed scheduled editions Saturday for the first time in its 152 years.

The Herald Tribune Sunday night boosted its press run to 2 1/2 million copies and had the newsstands virtually to itself Monday.

The suspension of the Herald Tribune brought to nearly $3 million the circulation affected by the strike of 400 AFL photoengravers. The walkout idled some 22,000 newspaper employees, exclusive of the handful of photoengravers.

Radio and television stations jumped into the breach, offering stepped-up news broadcasts as a public service. Their advertising business also climbed, as stores laden with Christmas wares frantically sought to push sales without newspaper advertising.

The photoengravers struck Saturday for a package increase of $15 a week covering wages, pensions and welfare benefits. The publishers offered a $3.75 a week package. Present wages are $120 a week for day work, $131 at night.

United Air Lines To Move To New Terminal At 9 A.M.

United Air Lines will move into the city's new terminal at the Municipal Airport Tuesday at 9 a.m., J. A. Mitchell, station manager, has announced.

Both United and Braniff International Airways will use the new terminal. United handles Braniff's local affairs here.

Under the new set-up it will not be necessary to enter the air base at all in order to reach the terminal. The new building can be reached from Highway 2 and 34.

The new access road to the terminal from the highway will be marked, Mitchell announced. United plans a dedication of the new location on Dec. 16, Mitchell said.

'Little Stuff' Moves Up A Notch

Carlisle Greathouse, 18, of Hindsboro, Ill., gives an affectionate pat to "Little Stuff," Monday after his Aberdeen Angus steer, named reserve junior champion at the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago, was advanced to champion of the junior contest. Advancement came when it was announced that

"Blackie," original winner, would be barred from further competition because the age of the steer had been misrepresented. William Ogilvie, general manager of the exposition, said Richard Carey, owner of "Blackie," would not be permitted to compete for any further awards. (AP Wirephoto Monday Night.)

Red Brutality Toll In Korea Put At 35,000

Delegates Hear In Shocked Silence Claim That Russians Commanded Prison Camps

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. charged Monday that 39,000 U.N. soldiers and Korean civilians were victims of a conscious policy of "wholesale brutality" laid down by world Communism. He said most of the victims died.

"It is my personal conviction that over 35,000 of these are dead," Lodge said later.

The chief American delegate charged before the General Assembly that Russian officers headed the command of prison camps in North Korea in which thousands of prisoners of war were slain by inhuman and atrocious means.

Most of the assembly delegates sat in shocked silence as the chief American delegate opened the debate on the question of atrocities which the United States raised a month ago.

Lodge introduced a resolution proposing that the Assembly:

1. Express "its grave concern at reports and information that North Korean and Chinese Communist forces have, in a large number of instances, employed inhuman practices against the heroic soldiers of forces under the United Nations command in Korea and against the civilian population of Korea;

2. Condemn "the commission by any governments or authorities of murder, mutilation, torture, and other atrocity acts against captured military personnel or civilian population, as a violation of rules of international law and basic standards of conduct and morality and as affronting human rights and the dignity and worth of the human person."

Britain, France, Australia and Turkey, all with soldiers in Korea, joined the United States in presenting this resolution.

Poland's Deputy Foreign Minister Marian Naszkowski reacted quickly, however, with a counter charge that the United States rules want to "wash off the stains of guilt" for Korean bombings by American planes and for waging germ warfare. He said the United States is waging a hate campaign against the Chinese and North Koreans.

Confined Case Proved
The Western sponsors did not ask for a commission of investigation, assuming it would be stopped by the Bamboo Curtain. American representatives also said they were certain that the evidence produced by the United States Department of Defense proved the case beyond dispute.

Lodge said barbarities committed on prisoners of war in a long dark march northward from Pyongyang "suggest either sadism on a mass scale or, what is more likely, vengeful hatred and brutality resulting from the enemy's indoctrination of his forces."

Full Parity Is Goal Of Agriculture Chief

Prices Received By Farmers Dip To 12-Year Low; Expenses Mount

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson declared Monday that rigid price supports and companion production controls of farm products could bring unemployment among non-farmers and terrible repercussions in our entire economy.

In criticizing current federal agricultural programs, the GOP farm chief asked farmers to recognize that the effects of reduced agricultural output do not stop with the producer himself.

"Actually," he said, "the number of people who earn all or part of their daily living through transporting, processing, packaging and merchandising of products of our farms exceed those actually engaged in agriculture itself."

"An over-all reduction in farm output can have terrific repercussions in our entire economy," he said.

Benson offered this criticism of present farm programs in a speech delivered to the National 4-H Club Congress.

He promised that the Eisenhower administration will offer to Congress proposed improvements which he said "will help farmers gain full parity of price and income in our market places—rather than some fraction of parity in a government warehouse," as well as enlarged markets.

By parity he meant a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay. Present law requires the government to support major crops at 90 per cent of parity.

While conceding that farmers must shift production from product to product to meet demand, the secretary said "we should never lose sight of our real goal: A constantly increasing and more efficient production of farm goods" to meet needs of growing domestic and world population.

Benson called upon the rural youth of America to help preserve the "traditions of self help and free enterprise which have made America great." He said farm people through the ages have been in the forefront of a continuing battle against tyranny.

Farm Prices Down

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government reported Monday that prices received by farmers dropped to a 12-year low this month, while cost of living expenses for farm families continued to rise.

The announcement came while Agriculture Secretary Benson and his National Agricultural Advisory Commission drove hard to complete the new farm program President Eisenhower will present to Congress in January.

Benson's department reported a parity ratio of 90 per cent for the month ended Nov. 15, lowest since early 1941 and 1 per cent below the mid-October figure. Parity is the gauge for determining farmers' purchasing power.

At the same time, the index of prices paid by farmers for living and operational expenses rose one-third of 1 per cent.

Prices received by farmers for their commodities during the month Oct. 15-Nov. 15 slumped two-fifths of 1 per cent, due primarily to lower receipts for hogs, eggs and cotton.

Agriculture sources said the continued price decline may make it difficult for the Eisenhower administration to win congressional approval of any program breaking away from mandatory 90 per cent supports on the six basic commodities—cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, peanuts and rice.

Benson and the President hoped to "modernize" the current farm price support program, in which the six commodities are now supported at 90 per cent of parity, based on 1910-1914 averages.

Income, Sales Tax Supported

Area Chamber Meet Backs 'Combination'

Representatives of three city Chambers of Commerce went on record Monday as favoring a combination of a sales and income tax as a means of replacing the present general property tax as a source of state revenue.

Lincoln's chamber representative at the area conference, one of 13 to be held in the state, Charles Elce, abstained from the direct question on the recommendation because the Lincoln chamber had voted in favor of a sales tax or income tax or a combination of both.

Only three out-of-town representatives showed up for the meeting, L. C. Geis of Beaver Crossing, Karl H. Nelson of Nebraska City, and Charles A. Dean of Plattsmouth. Recommendations of the 13 state area chamber meetings will be sent to Arch Jarrell of Grand Island, chairman of the citizens' Advisory Council. These in turn will be presented to Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln who heads a legislative committee studying tax problems.

Special Session

The recommendations voted Monday included one asking for a special session of the Legislature early in 1954, which it was believed would be called to consider road problems, in order for a constitutional amendment to be drawn up and voted on in 1954.

The recommendations Monday were pointed up as a broad and general policy, not one of procedure. The majority of the program that will be forwarded to Jarrell was encompassed in the statement of belief approved by the Lincoln chamber's board of directors last week.

The four voting members of the 10 who attended approved commending Gov. Robert Crosby on his "forthright stand for enforcing Nebraska's tax laws on an equitable basis." Voting was split on a resolution introduced by Nelson stating that household goods and personal property effects should be eliminated from taxable property.

John Curtiss, a member of the Lincoln chamber's Board of Directors, said this had been considered by the board but had been voted down with little discussion.

Sole Base

The question of advocating a sales tax as a sole base for replacing property tax was denounced by Dr. H. Clyde Filley who said such a tax would "hit hard" the small income group who demand few services of the state. The idea of an income tax alone was hit by Gustav Besch, tax consultant, who said this tax form was difficult to manage and that a withholding system would have to be employed in order to make it collectible.

Besch recommended the state stay in all three taxing fields, income, sales tax, and property tax.

Former Tax Commissioner Norris Anderson, now with the State Farm Bureau, told the group of 30, including interested persons, that he thought a sales tax could act as a replacement for the state level, pointing out that various counties would have to be less uniform in their own taxing problems if it were.

Snow-Go Estimate Okayed By Council

A $4,300 estimate has been approved by the City Council for the purchase of a used Snow-Go for the street department.

Purchase of the piece of equipment has already been arranged with a Dakota farmer but the city charter provides that bids must be received on all purchases in excess of $500. The Snow-Go is used to windrow snow on the streets and load it into trucks for hauling away.

The new machine, said Street Superintendent Lynn Myers, will serve as standby equipment for the one Snow-Go now in operation. Also, he said, it will be used to speed clearing of residential streets.

Kuykendall May Claim Wife Drunk

By BASIL C. RAFFERTY

OMAHA (AP)—Indications developed Monday that defense attorneys may attempt to prove that Mrs. Ardath Kuykendall was intoxicated on the day of her death.

Questions bearing on this possibility were asked several prospective jurors by Defense Attorney Eugene D. Sullivan Sr. during selection of a jury to hear the first degree murder trial of Mrs. Kuykendall's husband, Joseph Kuykendall, 34-year-old, Arizona horse trainer.

The wealthy Mrs. Kuykendall, 30, heiress to a trust fund estimated at 26 million dollars, was found dying in the couple's luxurious house trailer at the edge of Omaha last June 18, during Omaha's Ak-Sar-Ben racing season. Her tall part-Indian husband of three months was charged with first degree murder in her death.

Drugs Or Drunk

O'Sullivan asked some of the jurors if they were willing to consider evidence that Mrs. Kuykendall was intoxicated or under the influence of drugs or that her death may have been accidental.

At Kuykendall's preliminary hearing June 26 Dr. James W. Brown, a pathologist, testified that Mrs. Kuykendall's death resulted from a skull fracture and brain hemorrhage and it was his opinion that the injury was caused by "externally applied force produced by a blunt instrument."

O'Sullivan also examined each juror closely on the significance of circumstantial evidence, citing the Nebraska rule that when the evidence is circumstantial this evidence must "exclude every theory or hypothesis other than guilt" for conviction.

Stop Drugs

No eye-witnesses were produced at the preliminary hearing earlier, but officials have quoted Kuykendall as saying an argument started when he asked his wife to stop taking drugs. He was quoted as saying he recalled pushing her "six or seven times," but that he "couldn't have killed her."

Deputy Sheriff Claude Hender Jr. testified at the preliminary hearing he found a "large amount of narcotics" in the trailer and saw hypodermic needles and a revolver inside the vehicle.

Before questioning of jurors began, Chief Deputy County Attorney Robert C. McGowan said the state would not ask the death penalty. In Nebraska the jury determines whether the death penalty or life imprisonment shall be imposed.

McGowan told the jurors the trial might take "the better part of two weeks."

Benjamin Stewart, Engineer, 76, Dies

Benjamin H. Stewart, 76, 2130 F, died Monday in a local hospital.

He was a retired Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad engineer.

Born Aug. 20, 1877, at Chester, W. Va., he had lived in Lincoln for 37 years.

Mr. Stewart was a member of Lancaster Lodge 54, AF&AM; the Scottish Rite, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Burlington Veterans Association, the Second Presbyterian Church, and was a lifetime member of Electa Chapter 8 OES.

He is survived by his wife, Amanda.

Funeral services will be held at Hodgman-Spahn Chapel at 3 p.m. Wednesday, the Rev. T. R. Jones officiating.

16% Gas Rate Hike Measure Introduced

A 16 per cent increase in gas rates is proposed in an ordinance introduced to the City Council for first reading.

Before coming effective, however, the proposed increase of Central Electric and Gas Co. will be reviewed by the city's power committee. The ordinance, said Mayor Clark Jearry, is subject to amendment.

The increase, a result of wholesale price boosts to Central from Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, applies to firm residential gas users. Industrial users have been paying the increased rate under their automatic adjustment contracts.

Under the proposed new rate schedule the monthly service charge of 75 cents remains the same. All other steps in the rate scale, however, have been advanced.

The new scale calls for 85 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for the first 2,000 cubic feet of gas, a 10 cent increase; 75 cents per 1,000 for the next 3,000 cubic feet, an 8 cent increase; 70 cents per 1,000 for the next 5,000, a 10 cent increase; 65 cents per 1,000 for the next 40,000, a 12 cent increase; 61 cents per 1,000 for the next 50,000, a 12 cent increase; and 57 cents per 1,000 for all over 100,000, an 8 cent increase.

For-Hire Vehicle Fee Hike Slated

Between 5,000 and 6,000 over-the-road for-hire vehicles will begin paying a higher fee for their Railway Commission plates on Jan. 1.

The commission announced Monday that the fee is being raised from $12.50 a year to $13 a year.

All for-hire vehicles subject to supervision by the commission are required to carry Railway Commission plates in addition to the motor vehicle license plates which they obtain from the Motor Vehicle Division through the county treasurer.

Demos Level New Charge At Brownell

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic high command cut loose with a new blast at Atty. Gen. Brownell Monday night, charging the Senate Judiciary Committee prepared to investigate charges that Brownell refused to provide FBI aid in a Denver jury-tampering case.

Clayton Fritchey, deputy chairman of the Democratic National Committee, fired a three-way barrage at Brownell in a radio broadcast. (MBS-Reporters Roundup) accusing the Attorney General of injecting the FBI into politics and "pulling it out of crime-busting."

Fritchey said he based his latest accusations on these published reports.

1. A federal judge's criticism of the Justice Department for refusing FBI help in the Denver jury-tampering case, which later was successfully prosecuted with the aid of treasury agents.

2. A St. Louis federal judge's unanswered appeal to Brownell for more help from the Justice Department in a grand jury's investigation of labor union racketeering.

3. Statements by Republican Reps. Clara Hoffman of Michigan and Wm. Smith of Kansas that "pressure" was exerted to halt a congressional investigation of racketeering in Detroit.

Earlier, Chairman Langer (R-ND) announced that his Senate Judiciary Committee will begin hearings in Denver on Dec. 12 in connection with the Justice Department's role in the jury-meddling case.

Langer said the committee wants to find out why the attorney was fired and replaced by a Republican who was a fraternity brother of Brownell.

In another decision, the high court

Set aside by a 6-3 vote the conviction of George Lewis Dickinson of San Francisco on charges of violating the Draft Act. Dickinson had been sentenced to two years for refusing to submit to induction. He argued he was a minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, and exempt from military service, although he worked regularly in a shipyard.

Seal Sales Net Another $1,000

Christmas Seal Sales netted another $1,000 towards the $19,500 goal over the Thanksgiving week end, bringing total receipts to $10,275, Richard Jay, Vice President of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association, said.

The Seal Sale, which will continue until Christmas is sole support of the Association's tuberculosis program which includes the chest X-ray survey, school tuberculosis tests, health education and patient services.

Ullman Summoned

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate probers announced Monday they have subpoenaed the man accused of being the photographer for the Soviet spy ring allegedly aided by Harry Dexter White.

Robert Morris, counsel of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, said that the witness, William Ludwig Ullman, has been summoned to a public hearing Wednesday.

The Senate probers turned to Ullman after being rebuffed in their efforts to question freely Leon Gouzenko, former Russian cipher clerk in Canada who helped break a Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1945.

Gouzenko said Monday in a copyrighted article in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that he will not testify before the subcommittee in order to protect his family's safety.

Segregation Backed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three states—Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia—Monday told the Supreme Court it has no grounds on which to declare racial segregation in the nation's school unconstitutional.

And the District of Columbia declared it could do nothing about integrating the schools here because Congress itself set up separate systems for the area. District counsel also argued that the principle of dual school systems does not violate civil rights or other guarantees of the Constitution.

Train Crash Hurts 12

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Two Erie railroad passenger trains, creeping along at reduced speeds, crunched together on a trestle of the road's main line Monday night, injuring at least 12 persons.

None of the injured was reported in serious condition and there were no fatalities.

The trains—a Chicago-Jersey City express, the "Erie Limited," and a Jersey City-Waldwick local—were moving slowly when they collided head-on.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Do we handicap ourselves unnecessarily?

To the adult a clod is just a piece of dirt.

To the small boy it represents a challenge. It represents a missile to be fired at the nearest tree or post where it may explode like a silent, miniature bomb.

A child makes use of his capacities as naturally as he breathes.

The adult, on the other hand, may sabotage his capacity, capacity to use what I call the energy of choice.

Such energy resembles physical energy in that apparently it must take some form. Apparently it may take the form of creative energy in action, of irrational use of energy, or, like a cancerous growth, of self-sabotage through being turned against one's self.

Frustrated creative needs appear to turn into irrational dependency needs, and energies which might have been used creatively are thereby used in the satisfaction of irrational dependency needs.

The satisfaction of such irrational needs may represent retrogression to a point of arrested development resulting from failure to resolve some problem in childhood.

Thus the compulsion to sabotage a neighbor's use of creative capacities, sabotage use of one's own capacities; dependency beyond need upon government, family and friends, food, tobacco, or alcohol appear to be part of a pattern growing out of the premise that the energy of choice may not be simply lost but must find an outlet.

The rationality of the individual and the rationality of society appear to be interwoven in the same pattern.

Dean Lambert Urges Efficient SC Program

'Tightening Belt Is Solution To Problems Facing State'

Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, prescribed closer inter-organizational cooperation, more careful planning and more effective education for a state soil conservation program that is faced with the prospect of "fewer dollars that will be harder to come by."

Speaking to upward of 100 representatives Monday attending the 13th annual state conference of Nebraska Soil Conservation District Supervisors at the Lincoln Hotel who had previously learned of a five per cent decline in SCS accomplishments during 1952, Lambert foresaw no threat to the state program that could not be over come by a little belt tightening.

"In the face of an ever-changing nature," Dr. Lambert asserted, "we will never be able to push conservation fast enough, but let us not lose sight of the fact that the big part always must be done by the farmers and the ranchers themselves. Progress never has been just a matter of money."

The three-day conference was opened by state chairman Dr. G.

E. Condra who referred reassuringly to recent reorganization measures taken by Agriculture Secretary Benson.

"We have conferred with Washington leaders and examined the future that is in store for conservation. The service is going to come through all right. Let's not get excited," he advised.

Below 1952

State Conservationist E. G. Jones told the supervisors that Nebraska accomplishments in 1952 were five per cent below those of 1951, albeit greater than or equal to earlier years.

"This is the first time in the eleven years I have been making these progress reports that I have had to report a decline," he observed.

He noted that under reorganization measures, developing since last January, the original 14 regional conservationists had been reduced in number to eight area conservationists.

"Each has increased his work units to 11 where conservationists formerly gave supervision and guidance to seven work units. Naturally this and the effects of the general readjustment have had a slowing effect," he said.

But Jones did not attribute the assignment of some 26 SCS men to pilot watershed work to the on-the-land slowdown.

"It was lack of funds which hampered on-the-farm progress," he said, adding that the opening of the pilot watershed program absorbed SCS experts who would have been lost to the on-the-farm program in any event.

Work Comparison

Green's comparison of accomplishments between 1952 and '53 based on tentative reports covering the first 10 months of each year was:

Grassed waterways: 8,600 in 1953 to 11,000 in 1952, but noting that 1952 was 50 per cent greater than any preceding year.

Terraces: 6,000 miles in 1953 to 6,800 in 1952.

Land levelling and irrigation projects: (influenced by drought) 21,000 acres in 1953 to 16,000 acres in 1952.

Pasture seeding: 2,000 acres in 1953 to 2,700 in 1952.

Treating: 3,400 acres in 1953 to 3,370 in 1952.

Discussing watershed concepts H. G. Bobst, acting regional director of the SCS, asserted that "It should never be contended that treatment of the small incident watersheds will end flooding on the main streams or support a debate over big dams vs. little dams. But it must be remembered that while the big river floods are dramatic and make page one news it is still a fact that 70 per cent of the damage to soil occurs in the little incident watersheds that drain the farms. It is protection from this that we are after."

Bobst urged emphasis on inter-district co-operation, noting that while a great deal of corrective work is done on each farm the problem of detention dams, gradient reduction and other supplemental work are not respecters of district or farm boundaries.

He explained that federal aid is limited to 50 per cent of the sum of non-federal project funds. District activities in conservation education were reported by Evan Hartman.

Everett Barr, Pawnee City, association vice president and retiring state director, was re-elected from the southeast Nebraska district.

Committee meetings on assigned subjects began Monday night.

Children Named Residual Heirs Of Mrs. Nefsky Estate

The children of Mrs. Bella Nefsky, who died Nov. 10, have been named the residual heirs of her estate, according to the will filed in Lancaster County Court.

They are Anna Nathan of Monterey, Mexico; Charles C. Nefsky, of Gretna; and Simon Nefsky, Fanny N. Soelenfreund, Rae DeBatts, Ruth Goldstein, and Tillie Nefsky, all of Lincoln, who will share alike in the estate's residue.

Specific bequests were made to the Denver (Colo.) National Home for Jewish Children, $100; Tifereth Israel Synagogue at Lincoln, $100; Tillie Nefsky, a daughter, a diamond ring; her four sisters, all of Philadelphia, Pa., Tillie Nefsky, $1,000; Dora Nefsky, $1,000; Anna Badt, $500; Sophie Cinberg, $200; and great grandchildren Doris Anne and John Edward Nathan, $100.

Three daughters, Tillie, Fanny, and Rae were named executrices of the estate by the will.

New Uranium Find

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dominican Republic's Information Center reported that minerals containing uranium had been discovered in the republic, which is in the West Indies. The announcement here quoted the republic's mining service as saying the uranium-bearing minerals were "of importance." It gave no other details.

Value Of Autopsy Is Told By Tanner

The autopsy is valuable educationally, legally and to the family of the deceased, Dr. Frank Tanner, pathologist for several Lincoln hospitals, told the Lincoln Exchange Club meeting Monday noon.

Dr. Tanner, who is also president of the Lancaster County Medical Association, said that a hospital that practices a high percentage of autopsies shows that the staff doctors are not afraid that "they will be embarrassed by what they find."

Besides the obvious value to legal cases, he said, there is the educational value to the doctor.

Tiny Wound Fatal

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—A tiny wound inflicted by a playmate using a dried weed as an arrow was blamed for the death of 6-year-old Robert Lee Mitchell. Neighbors reported the boy received the slight wound near temple while playing with other children Friday. That night he complained of a headache and an inability to open his mouth. Death followed.

In almost every disease that there is a considerable amount of knowledge about, he pointed out, a part of the knowledge came from autopsies.

"It also helps," he explained, "to discover a possible hereditary or contagious disease in the surviving members of a family."

Back To The States

We doubt that there are many states among the 48 which have benefited more than Nebraska through federal aid programs.

In the last four years, for example, a number of hospitals of modern construction, hospitals sorely needed in areas previously without such facilities, have been built thanks to matching dollars raised locally with an equal amount of federal funds. The federal contribution comes from federal tax dollars, collected in part from Nebraska. Why send the money back there, the critics of "Big Government" cry, and then send it back here to be spent, adding to the expense of collection and handling? The criticism has a sensible ring to it. Yet the fact remains that, left to state leadership, we simply do not do it. We say that we can but when it comes down to actually doing it, for some reason we never do it.

In more than 80 years of statehood, the people of Nebraska never have lifted a finger to encourage improved hospital facilities in sections of the state which lacked them.

As a state we raised no money for soil conservation.

As a state we did not lift a finger financially to encourage rural electrification.

As a state we have pulled the pursestrings tightly together. No individual candidate for public office in this state has urged huge appropriations for the purpose of carrying out long-range programs of development. No political party has presented a program urging the adoption of a far-flung program of development.

Sure, we can take steps to do a lot of the things to which the federal government has been contributing generously in recent years, but there are a lot of "ifs" attached. Within a state, can we reach any general agreement upon a broad program of development? Or will we find ourselves split geographically, with one section claiming it has been overlooked, while still a second feels that it did not get its share? We can do these things if we can agree on what is desirable, how it is to be carried forward, and the people themselves are willing to sacrifice sufficiently to provide the adequate tax funds.

The fact is that we always had the opportunity to do what has been undertaken, thanks to the leadership of big federal government. The fact also is that we never did tackle the job. That is why we have big federal government which we now criticize. We can do these things ourselves but we do them only when we get a fat chunk of federal money to provide the incentive.

Breakfast At Grandpa's

There is that tradition which has carried itself down through generations of those who trod the boards that "the show must go on." And with Uncle Sam's boys in gray, the word from their creed dictates from a long and splendid record that "the mail must go through." Rounding out the triumvirate with no less degree of pride in accomplishment of service to the public are those individuals of the great brotherhood comprising the fourth estate—the newspaper people.

Exemplifying this, Emil Reutzel extended an editorial orchid to one of his Nebraskan staff last week. Hospitalized with painful injuries, Donna Embree, who writes a sprightly column for the News, propped her writing utensils up against the cast encasing her right leg and had her copy ready to turn in on time. The accident that cracked her leg didn't make a dent in her sense of humor. Friends had suggested, she observed wryly in her opening paragraph, that her column

Of Men And Things

The stage has been set for a first-class party brawl. Cooler heads may avert it. But Secretary of State John Foster Dulles did not endeavor himself with an element within his own party when he notified the Jenner committee that he could not go along with it in protesting the Canadian government's determination to have the final say on the publicity given to the committee's proposed questioning of Igor Gouzenko.

Gouzenko, a former code clerk in the Russian embassy in Canada in 1945, fled from it, later to turn over to the Canadian Mounted Police information enabling the Mounties to break up a spy ring operating in Canada. Our good neighbor to the north, Canada, has its own security problems, although south of the border it may be the disposition of many Americans to overlook or to forget the fact in concentrating on the dangers that confront us. Canada not only has its own security problem but shares with us a mutual responsibility in protecting the soil of the North American continent. The Canadians have done a pretty good job. It was the famed Mounties, it seems, who first got the goods upon Russian spying, furnished agencies in this country with invaluable information, with a minimum of noise. Mr. Dulles told the Jenner committee he felt that Canada was on solid ground in insisting that it should be the final judge of whether or not its interests are involved in publicity given to information obtained from Gouzenko. "I would, under similar circumstances, take the same position on behalf of the United States," Dulles added. "I believe you would want me to do so." There is nothing in all of this but a conflict over methods. The Canadians go about the business of security differently but equally if not more effectively and certainly with far less political hub-bub.

Issue Is One Of Method

Were the positions reversed, not only would we expect Mr. Dulles to take all steps necessary to guard American interests but any failure of his to do so would inspire the sharpest criticism. Part of Mr. Dulles' trouble at this time can be attributed to the fact that he has let the McCarthy-Jenner crowd push him around too much for his own good. If they haven't gotten the notion that all they have to do is crack the whip to force Dulles to dance to their tune, then they are not as smart as we think they are.

The administration's attitude, both in the domestic and international fields, has been that there is room enough within the party for all kinds of views. In the abstract sense, that is a noble idea. Only it does not work. It does not work naturally where other nations are affected. They have something to say. Neither does it work where both sides are willing to give some ground. The idea that the McCarthys and the Jenners can be won over to the President's viewpoint is a little beyond the point of wishful thinking. Each was elected last fall for another six-year term, two years beyond the commission Mr. Eisenhower won, and neither McCarthy nor Jenner is inclined to take any orders from the White House.

P. S. The surprise decision by Gouzenko not to testify before the Jenner Senate committee should provide adequate time for cool-down. Gouzenko in his statement indicated he had no new information to contribute beyond expressing the belief that there are members of the spy ring who gladly would desert it if given the assurance of physical and financial security for the remainder of their lives, and the protection of their families. And that's that. Both sides should breathe easy.

As Europe Sees Us

European apprehension over McCarthyism, according to the Saturday Review of Literature, is not in the behaviour of the person himself but in a national state of mind that gives him validity. It sees in America a sense of frustration in its efforts for security and its failure to satisfy itself that its way of life is solidly based. It notes the lack of a counter philosophy which is the barrier against a decline into the totalitarianism of despair. It fears that America will sink into the experience of Nazi-Germany, Fascist Italy and Communist Russia. It is an experience that most of Europe has had and does not want any one else to have.

The European view is interesting and might be applicable if the United States were a European country. But it is not. Americans feel frustrations and impatience and disappointments as do all humans. But a sense of hopelessness and drift has been pretty well bred out. Moreover, the political assets of free speech and the right through the ballot box to name leaders and to reject philosophies remain strong and in the end will hold America on the track. What Europe fails to evaluate in America is the fact that the feeling is not one of frustration but of dissatisfaction; that the country is not sinking into totalitarianism, but is exhibiting a determination not to decline. The thing called McCarthyism is not a general philosophy at all. It is just a distasteful phase.

Note To Congress

As long as Congress is going in for investigations in a big way, we suggest it turn its attention to a big way. Things are happening on that beat. First Helen Traubel forsook the Met and turned to night club singing with a few days at the classics. Now the New York Opera Company is in a fix. It was putting on "Carmen" in Chicago and it was time for Don Jose to plunge the dagger into her. But he fell into a huff and walked off the stage leaving her to die as best she could without benefit of the libretto. A few more like that and we won't be going to opera to see if it lives up to standards, but to find out what new version has been concocted.

While Ike Hesitates McCarthy Is Growing

WASHINGTON—Those who have watched President Eisenhower during almost a year in office conclude that the No. 1 lesson he still has to learn is that political tactics are exactly the same as military tactics.

If he had realized this, his friends say, he would not have been so surprised and hurt when Senator McCarthy trained his guns on Ike as well as on Truman during his nation-wide broadcast last week. For in politics as in war, you have to pick the moment for an offensive when your potential enemy is weak to take the offensive. Once you let him gather strength, you must expend more ammunition, risk more loss of men to win the same objective.

This is what no less a person than Tom Dewey told Ike about a year ago. For Eisenhower's real decision regarding McCarthy came not after he got into the White House, but while he was campaigning in Indiana.

Dewey hurried to Washington a year ago last October to warn the Republican candidate that he had to take a stand on McCarthy, or he had better do it the coming week in Milwaukee—right in McCarthy's own bailiwick.

IKE'S BEST FRIEND

A week or two before Eisenhower had been elected, making a speech in Indianapolis where he shook hands and posed for the cameras with Senator Jenner of Indiana, the same right-wing Republican who had called Ike's chief benefactor in the Army, George Marshall, "a front for traitors" and "a living lie."

Everyone knew that in his heart Eisenhower didn't relish speaking on the same platform with the rabble-rousing senator from Indiana. Republicans like Senators Duff of Pennsylvania and Ives of New York also knew that Jenner would cut Ike's throat politically once re-elected.

However, the new and green Republican candidate even allowed the man who denounced his best friend to hold up the prize fight while the newsreels clicked away—all for the benefit of Bill Jenner.

It was after this that Dewey hurried to Washington, persuaded Ike that he had to take a stand regarding the rabble-rousing wing of the GOP, and the best time to do it was in Milwaukee. If Ike either denounced McCarthyism in his own state or did not permit McCarthy to appear on the same platform, Dewey argued, the rest of the party would take the cue that the new Republican leader would not tolerate McCarthyism.

Eisenhower agreed.

PRESSURE FROM SUMMERFIELD

But when Ike's advisers learned of this, Chairman Arthur Summerfield, now postmaster general, hit the ceiling. Calling Sen-

MARQUIS CHILDS

White Case Bringing McCarthy To The Fore

WASHINGTON—The widespread reaction to Sen. Joseph McCarthy's nation-wide broadcast shows that he succeeded in making himself quite clear. He carved out for himself, boldly and aggressively, a new political party, the McCarthy party.

Nor was he beseeching anyone to join the McCarthy party. He showed an arrogant strength. If President Eisenhower and the rest of the Republicans care to join up, then that is all right. But McCarthy means to make sure that the election next year is fought over McCarthy.

This presents for the President, for the administration, for the leadership of the party, a problem of extraordinary gravity. It may in fact be no exaggeration to say that at the present moment toward the close of the first year the Eisenhower administration has come to a great divide. No longer will it be possible to look both ways.

But what, many have asked, can the President do? One answer is that he could stake out beyond equivocation the ground he stands on. This would be something more than the chance and impulsive remarks he makes on appropriate occasions. It would be an uncompromising affirmation of the beliefs he holds together with a program for America and the world in accord with those beliefs.

In defining such an unequivocal position, the President would be under a handicap put on him by his attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., in impugning the loyalty of President Truman with the charge he had knowingly appointed a Russian spy to high office. Brownell in his luncheon club speech seemed to be taking over the McCarthy tactic and outdoing the master.

So much is still unclear in the Brownell-Harry Dexter White affair. There is, for example, the question of motivation and timing. And in this connection some remarkable explaining is being done by White House spokesmen.

They have told inquiring reporters, who duly parroted their views, that the Affair Brownell was initiated as part of a struggle for power with McCarthy. The ground was to be cut out from under the senator from Wisconsin. He was to be out-McCarthyed. The play—and the resulting headlines—were to be given to Senator William Jenner and his Internal Security Subcommittee.

Looked at in this light, it was a sort of junior-grade Machiavellian maneuver. Some of these inspired explanations go so far as to say that the planners never intended to have Truman escape ators Ferguson of Michigan and Hickendoofer of Iowa with Tom Coleman of Wisconsin. They hired a special plane, caught up with the candidate's train in Ohio, argued, pleaded and cajoled until they convinced him he shouldn't snub McCarthy in Milwaukee.

But to save his conscience, Eisenhower wrote into the Milwaukee speech two paragraphs praising his old friend General Marshall, the man against whom McCarthy had delivered 60,000 words of invective from the safety of the Senate floor.

However, Arthur Summerfield, hearing of the paragraph of praise for Marshall, notified McCarthy and later smuggled McCarthy up the service elevator to the Perle Marquette Hotel in Peoria, Ill., for a secret conference with Eisenhower.

There McCarthy begged that Ike delete the paragraphs praising Marshall. To have Eisenhower slap him in the face with this tribute to a man he had denounced, McCarthy argued, would deal him a body blow right in his own state. In the end, the new candidate yielded.

The paragraphs praising the man who promoted Dwight Eisenhower from the rank of lieutenant colonel to a lieutenant general in one year, after Douglas MacArthur had sent him home from the Philippines, were omitted.

After that, the so-called "New Deal" wing of the Republican party knew they could handle the candidate. After that, men like liberal Republican Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, the Republican who first urged Ike to run, began to take a much farther back seat.

STASSEN GETS SLAPPED

Some Dewey Republicans, however, figured that after election Eisenhower would see the issues clearly and take a firmer stand. That was why Harold Stassen, member of the Eisenhower cabinet, took a vigorous stand against McCarthy when the latter announced a deal with Greek shippers. It was the job of the federal government, Stassen announced bluntly and correctly, to deal with communist trade by Greek shippers.

At this point, however, McCarthy's old friend Vice President Nixon stepped forward. He persuaded Eisenhower that he had to get along with McCarthy, that McCarthy was a power in the party—and by this time he was. For the rule of military tactics had not been applied to politics and McCarthy's strength was growing. So Stassen was told to eat his own words. He did so, humbly, after a conference with McCarthy.

Later when the President delivered his inspiring Dartmouth speech against book-burning, he himself was put in a position of eating his own words. For the Voice of America, about to broadcast the Dartmouth speech abroad, was suddenly stopped.

An Editor Defies The Vigilantes

(Editor's Note: James A. Weschler, New York editor, was a member of the Young Communist League during his college years but afterward turned to journalism. Nevertheless, he was summoned before the McCarthy Committee last April and grilled secretly in a session from which the press was barred. Weschler in the following tells what goes on inside a man who is the object of such questioning.)

I have thought about Arthur Krock's explanation (in the New York Times) that my two-day appearance before the McCarthy committee was inconsequential because I am still alive and functioning.

Despite all I have written, it is not quite possible to communicate the quiet horror of examination by McCarthy. I have no wounds to exhibit. I write what I please about McCarthy. I bear every external resemblance to the person I was a moment before the telephone call from Washington. But I do not commend the experience to anyone else. I tell for those who may be called before him who do not happen to be editors of newspapers and thus cannot fight back. And I am saddened by those in responsible positions—who keep inventing reasons for avoiding a quarrel with the man.

METHODS OF THE PRIMITIVES

But no moment can be much more hideous than that in which your own estimate of yourself is alleged to be a case of mistaken identity, when you are charged with having booting the doctrine that you long ago renounced; and, worst of all, when you know that the men who are making the charge do not believe what they are saying. To be catapulted into the realm of madness without losing one's own reason is a rough journey.

And most important of all is the return trip. For aberration is infectious. The crucial thing is to avoid succumbing to an irrationality as great as the one you have left.

Bread Prices

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Saturday's Omaha World Herald carried a news story that bread would go up in Omaha Monday two cents on a 20-ounce loaf. The Sunday paper quoted bread's going up two cents a loaf here in Lincoln, with nothing about the size of the loaf. That would indicate that the price of all loaf sizes would go up. Just why this inequality in Lincoln as compared to Omaha prices? What does the public think about this unequal for increase?
B. S. KECK

Editor's Note: There seems to be no discrepancy in prices between the two cities. Inquiry at local baking companies indicates that the two-cent price increase is universal, regardless of the size of the loaf.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Practical Nurses Association of Nebraska wishes to extend thanks for the nice story about our group of workers who are organized to bring about a standard of qualifications for a considerable number of available women who are capable of supplying a large section of the nursing care needed in this state.

By bringing this situation before the public, training schools and extension courses may be made available for us and the realization that a good licensing law will protect the qualified practical nurse and the public the practical nurse services.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Farmer, Mr. Average Businessman, when are you going to wake up? Mr. Crosby is set on the idea of more accurate personal property assessment. Trenton Grain Company Denied Hearing

Request Is Rejected By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday denied a hearing to the T. W. Jones Grain Co. of Trenton, Neb., on its contention that five carloads of wheat held in the firm's grain elevator should not be subject to state taxation.

The wheat had been sold to the Klecan Grain Co., of Kansas City, Mo., but was not moved because of a shortage of railroad cars.

The grain was in the elevator on the assessment date, March 10, 1951.

The Nebraska Supreme Court decided the five car loads should be included as tangible property of the Jones firm for assessment. The company contended the assessment encroached on interstate commerce.

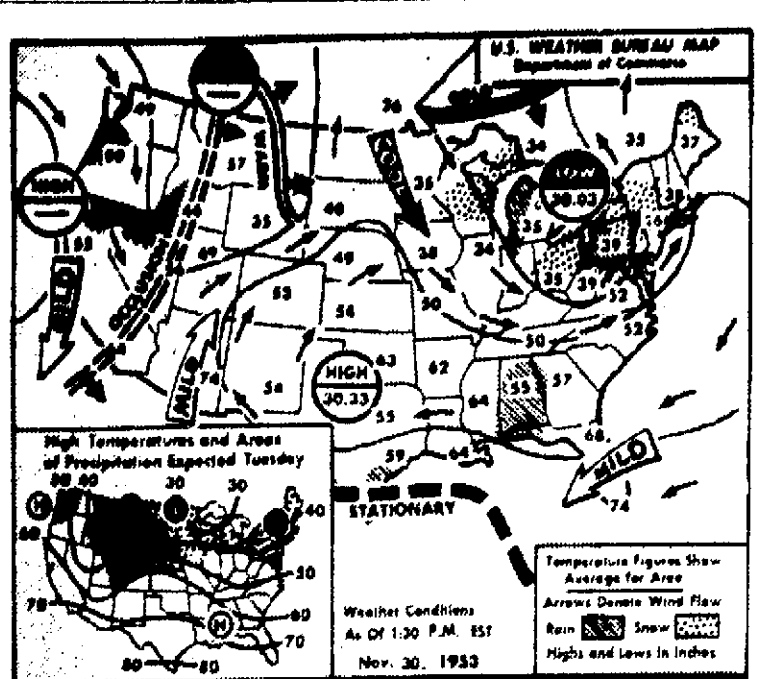

Concordia Choir Schedules Nine Holiday Concerts

SEWARD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—The A Cappella Choir of Concordia Teachers College, under the direction of Paul Rosel, will make nine Christmas concert appearances this year.

The first four concerts will be given next Sunday. The choir will participate in the morning services of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Utica and at St. Paul's Lutheran Church northeast of York. In the afternoon the choir will sing in Central City and in the evening it will be heard in Hampton.

Sunday, Dec. 13, the program will be presented at Schuyler, Fremont, West Point and Columbus.

The choir concludes its 1953 Christmas concert series with its appearance in Seward Wednesday night, Dec. 16.

Showers Are Expected

Snow is forecast for northern Appalachians, northern New England, upper lakes region and upper Mississippi Valley Tuesday. Rain is likely in southern New England.

Showers are expected in central plains, along north Pacific Coast and in northern Rockies. Snow flurries will hit higher elevations of north and central Rockies. (AP Wire-photo Map Monday Night)

2-Way Radio System OK'd For Panhandle

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—The Panhandle Rural Electrification Membership Association has the go-ahead for the construction of a two-way radio system which Manager Paul Phaneuf says "will be the most modern I know about in the state."

Construction permits and the license were received from the Federal Communications Commission.

"It will be a mobile relay system which will permit maintenance crews in one area to communicate with maintenance crews in another," Phaneuf explained. "No central point will be necessary to transmit the signal."

Association directors let a $13,977.23 contract for the system in August to the Motorola Communications and Electrical Co., Omaha, subject to receipt of a license and construction permit.

Purchasing Agent Resigns His Post

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Frank V. Bennett, city purchasing agent, Monday submitted a letter of resignation to Sioux City Mayor Ralph Henderson.

The resignation was accepted after the letter was read at the city council meeting.

Bennett said he was resigning for "personal and business reasons." He said he plans to go into private business.

Bennett has been city purchasing agent since 1941, when the post was created.

Bennett was a frequent witness before the Woodbury County grand jury which returned a series of conspiracy indictments.

A. E. Rugg, city auditor, was sworn in by District Judge Ralph Cray Monday as an interim member of the city council to fill a vacancy created by Clem Evans, superintendent of finance.

MRS. GEORGE R. CELLAR

White and gold-toned chrysanthemums appointed the chancel of the Geneva Congregational Church for the marriage of Miss Shirley Jean Fries, daughter of Mrs. Florence O. Fries, and George R. Cellar, all of Geneva, which took place early Wednesday evening, Nov. 25. The 6 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Werner.

As the members of the families and a small group of friends assembled, Mrs. Robert Waring presented a prelude of organ music and accompanied Miss Georgia Hamilton who sang, "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Waring also played the wedding music.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Charlene Timmons of Western, who wore a frock in the royal blue tone and carried a nosegay of gold-toned chrysanthemums.

Loren Hofferber of Geneva served Mr. Cellar as best man, and the ushers were Dean Garrett of Davenport, and James McCarthy of Geneva.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, A. N. Fries of Pawnee City, and wore for her wedding a gown of ice blue satin brocaded in a white floral motif. Her cap of matching satin was embroidered with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother.

Friendship Club Meets

Members of the Friendship Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Allen McWilliams with Mrs. E. A. Bohlman as assisting hostess. The program was presented by Mrs. Dora Bagley who gave an account of her trip to Europe last summer which included the coronation festivities in London.

It was announced that Mrs. D. T. Venter will serve as general chairman in charge of arrangements for the club's annual Christmas party, to be held December 19.

Mrs. Mina Kinslow will entertain at a pre-nuptial dinner on Saturday, Dec. 12, in honor of her daughter, Miss Joyce Kinslow, and her fiancé, Dean Hutchins, who will be married Sunday, Dec. 13, in the chapel of St. Paul's Church.

Included in Miss Kinslow's wedding party are Miss Alice Marsof, maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Patra Nelson and Miss Donna Bethel, Table Rock. Lighting the candles will be Miss Genelle Jensen and Miss Judy Johnson.

Dale Hutchins will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers are Ronald Trombla, John Harper, and Giles Hanman.

Miss Carol Everson, whose marriage to Dean Waggoner, of Firth, will be an event of 8 o'clock on Friday evening Dec. 18, at Havelock Methodist Church, is announcing the members of her bridal party this morning. Miss Irene Brauckmuller will be the maid of honor and Mrs. Max Northup, the bridesmaid. Miss Dorothy Sellers will be the bridesmaid, and Miss Gwendolyn Waggoner, sister of the bridegroom, Firth, and Mrs. Ray Henriksen will light the candles.

Jack Kruse will serve as best man, and the ushers are Joe Verbeek, Firth, and Lyle Mousel.

Extension Clubs Hold Achievement Day

The annual achievement day program of the Lancaster County Extension Clubs, held Monday afternoon in Lincoln, featured an exhibit of Christmas gifts and cards made by members of the various clubs in the county.

At left, above, pictured as they examined the exhibit,

Closing the annual achievement day program was a tea for which Mrs. Clifton Poland

There are more than fifty extension clubs represented in the Lancaster County Extension Council.

Busy And Exciting

THIS IS the morning we greet December—an extremely busy and exciting month. The holiday season, naturally, adds a tremendous amount of zest to the days ahead, but does not have a monopoly on all of the festivity. In case you had forgotten, there are numerous December brides—there is a variety of pre-nuptial courtesies—there is a little of this and a little of that—parties for the young set as well as the adults—guests and the impending arrival of the small-fry's hero—Santa Claus.

THIS MORNING we learned that the Circlet Theater will be opening its December production—"The Winslow Boy"—next Friday—Dec. 4—and that the play will continue through Dec. 13. As usual, coffee will be served during intermission—and hosts and hostesses for the coffee interlude are Mr. and Mrs. David Dow, Mr. and Mrs. James Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parker, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Kalin, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Huey, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dawley, Mr. and Mrs. Killiam Avon Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. London, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Wise, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Artt Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Damkroger. On Thursday morning Mrs. William J. Ferguson will entertain the coffee hostesses at a 10 o'clock coffee at the Circlet Theater building.

ONE OF the very popular December brides-elect is Miss Mary Margaret Loomis, whose marriage to Richard E. Moulton will be solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

More courtesies have been added to Miss Loomis's party calendar for the current week. For instance, there is the 10:30 o'clock coffee on next Saturday morning for which Mrs. Elmer Henkle and Mrs. Giles Henkle will be hostesses when they entertain at the home of Mrs. Elmer Henkle. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a hostess gift.

ON SUNDAY morning, Dec. 6, Mrs. Wesley C. Becker and her daughter, Mrs. Mendell Archerd, will honor Miss Loomis at an 11 o'clock-to-1 o'clock brunch at the home of Mrs.

Becker. Thirty-five guests have been invited.

THE Junior League literary—the Scribblers—plus husbands—will be out and about next Saturday evening when the group holds its annual 5 o'clock-to-6 o'clock party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean.

Arranging the Scribblers' party is a committee composed of Mrs. Jean Morse Furr, chairman; Mrs. John Angle, Mrs. John Dean, and Mrs. William Burke.

IN OUR judgment it never is too early for Christmas plans—and we found that Mr. and Mrs. John C. Whitten and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest U. Guenzel already have some made. The foursome will go to Sterling, Colo., to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. John V. Whitten (Lois Guenzel).

We Hear That--

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Givan had as their Thanksgiving houseguests Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson of Red Oak, Ia., Mrs. Patterson is Mr. Givan's sister.

U.N. Asks To Begin Coaxing 328 POWs

Talks To GIs Set In 11 Days

PANMUNJOM (Tuesday) (AP) —The United Nations command said today it wants to start explanations tomorrow to 328 South Korean prisoners of war listed by the Reds as refusing repatriation.

The Allies did not immediately ask for the start of explanations to the 22 Americans and one Briton held in the same camp by neutral Indian guards. A spokesman said interviews with those non-Koreans would start in about 11 days.

The Allied plan was sent to the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission by Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, chief of the U. N. repatriation group.

Four Women

Hamblen said he would like the talks to the 324 South Korean men and four South Korean women to start at 9 a.m. tomorrow (6 p.m., Thursday, CST) and continue until 4:30 p.m. with an hour and a half break for lunch.

NNRC rules specify that requests for prisoner explanations must be delivered by 10 a.m. of the preceding day. NNRC approval was expected to be only a formality.

Hamblen said he expects the U. N. explainers to talk to 30 South Koreans a day. At this rate it would take about 11 days to interview all 328 of them.

Talks with the Americans and the lone Briton would start immediately afterward—only some 11 days from the expiration of the 90-day explanation period.

Originally there were 359 prisoners held in the Communist-built camp for Allied POWs in the neutral zone. Those included 335 South Koreans including five women, 23 Americans and one British marine.

Some Return

Since then six South Korean, including one woman, and one American, Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Cracker Neck, Va., voluntarily returned without explanations.

Diplomatic talks aimed at arranging a Korean peace conference were in recess until Wednesday while the Allied side gave closer study to yesterday's Red proposal, which recommended New Delhi as the site.

Even before making more careful examination, U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean said the Red plan failed to "advance a single constructive idea" and he felt he could not recommend it to the United Nations.

South Korea quickly protested any suggestion of holding the conference in India, a nation which South Korea insists is led by "pro-Communists."

Merle Beattie School Has 193 Pupils

When the new Merle Beattie School at 19th and Calvert opened its doors for the first time Monday, a total of 193 elementary pupils were on hand. Greeting a group of students at the door is Mrs. A. R. Lichtenberger, second and third grade teacher. The curious pupils are (from the left) Martha Dieterich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Dieterich Jr.; Mike Jett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jett; Steve Garko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Garko; and Mary Ducker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ducker.

"The first day went very well," Luella Hatz, school principal, reported. "By 9:05, everyone was in their rooms and classes were under way."

Seven of the 200 enrolled at the school were absent the first day. Miss Hatz said she expected the total enrollment to rise as more new homes were being built in the neighborhood. (Star Photo)

Liquor Permit Review Slated

The City Council plans an early review of its on and off-sale liquor license policies.

The review will serve as a basis for action on the application of James E. Silverio for an off-sale beer license at 889-91 No. 27th. Silverio now holds an on and off-sale beer license at 2021 O which he intends to surrender upon approval of his present application.

The move of the license, said City Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, is not against Council policy but is against Council practice.

Some time ago the Council changed its policy to allow off-sale licenses beyond the regularly police foot patrolled area downtown. The Council, however, has never gone more than a block beyond that area.

The Council, said Councilman Rees Wilkinson, cannot logically deny the Silverio application. The application must either be approved or the Council's policy amended, he said.

All Council members agreed to withhold action on the application for one week, pending a closer look at policies now in force.

4 Proposals Are Sustained

The City Council has sustained four of the seven recommendations made to it by the City Planning Commission in regards to ordinances on third reading for changes in zoning.

The three ordinances which the Commission recommended be denied but were approved by the Council are:

Change in zoning from A-2 single family to G local business at the northeast corner of Center and Ayleworth.

Change in zoning from A-2 single family to G local business at 1903 Ayleworth.

Change in zoning from G local business to B two family at the northwest and northeast corners of 40th and Adams.

The four ordinances recommended for denial by the Commission and denied by the Council are:

Change in zoning from B two family to I commercial at 2729 Apple.

Change in zoning from B two family to G four family between 27th and 28th from I to Alpha.

Change in zoning from B two family to D multiple dwelling at the northeast corner of 23rd and Fairfield.

Change in zoning from G local business to A two family at the northeast corner of 10th and Van Dorn.

Mumps Victim Barney May Be On Job Today

County Commissioner Chauncey Barney, confined at his home with the mumps since Thanksgiving Day, expects to be "returned to duty" Tuesday.

Barney said Monday evening his case "was a mild one" and had probably gone a day or two undetected.

Fellow commissioners, Russell Brehm and Chris Kunner were not worried by the possibility of exposure to Barney's mumps at last Tuesday's board meeting.

Both have had the mumps. "When I was a kid," they both explained.

Five-Hour Delay

KANPUR, India (INS) — American railroad engineers who, sometimes have to slam on the brakes because of a cow on the tracks, might consider the plight of their Indian colleagues. An Indian passenger train was delayed for five hours after it plowed through a line of 14 camels squatting on the track, killing all of them. Nobody was hurt on the train, but the engine was derailed.

Brainwashing: Small Indignities, Mistreatment, Exhaustion—Vogeler

The Communist process of "brainwashing" or breaking down a prisoner until he is willing to confess is based on a series of small indignities and continued mistreatment all heaped upon a person when he is approaching exhaustion.

This was the explanation offered by Robert Vogeler, an international businessman who was a prisoner in Red-controlled Hungary for 17 months. He spoke to 400 persons at the Lincoln Dinner Club Monday night.

Vogeler described the steps by which he was brought to trial and forced to "confess" to a long series of crimes, for which he was sentenced to 15 years in solitary confinement.

70 Hours

During his pre-trial imprisonment he was beaten, threatened, doused in ice-water, interrogated for as long as 70 hours straight, and forced to stay in a small cell with dripping walls, a strong overhead light, no toilet facilities, and a peephole that clanged open and shut every six minutes.

"The first document presented to me," he said, "was an outright confession to all manner of high crimes. When I would refuse to sign that they would present one just slightly less damning. I would refuse to sign that one and the process would be repeated."

Finally, he said, the 20th document was not a confession but merely an "awkward statement of the truth." That one he signed.

The confession read in the often-rehearsed "trial," he said, was presented to him with the part he was to recite blue-penciled.

No Talking

After his sentencing, Vogeler said, he was again put in the same type of cell and not even allowed to talk to himself.

"They finally gave me some books," he said. "Among the books was a Bible, undoubtedly smuggled to me by a friend. This Bible was the only thing that gave me the courage to go on and is the reason that I retained my sanity while in solitary."

Dulles Hints U.S. To Accept Red Bid For Big Four Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles hinted strongly Monday the United States will accept Russia's bid for an early meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Berlin.

"We approach a possible meeting with the representatives of the Soviet Union," he told a congressional committee.

Dulles spoke about the same time that Foreign Minister Anthony Eden was telling the British House of Commons he has "every reason to believe" the United States shares his hope an early conference can be arranged.

The State Department declined to say whether Dulles has assured Eden of this attitude in secret cables which have been flowing between London, Paris and Washington.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White noted that numerous diplomatic exchanges have been made since Russia armament, and to reduce the risk of war.

Official View

White underscored Dulles' remarks Monday as the latest reflection of the American government's official view toward an East-West cold war meeting.

In Germany, British and French officials said informally that all signs pointed to a Big Four session being held in West Berlin late in January.

Dulles' comments came as he wound up testimony before a special House committee investigating Russia's seizure of the three Baltic states of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia.

He gave advance notice that the United States will adopt a tough attitude in dealing with Russia's foreign minister Molotov in the event a satisfactory basis for a conference can be found.

"I can assure you," Dulles said, "that we welcome opportunities to settle specific disputes between us; to end the race in armament, particularly atomic

Dorothy Canfield Fisher Taken Ill

ARLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Author Dorothy Canfield Fisher, 74, was reported by friends Monday to be ill at her home. She was reported stricken Saturday.

Telephone calls were being refused at the home of the widely known writer whose latest work, "Vermont Tradition," was published in October.

The report said her condition was "not serious" but that she probably would be confined for several weeks.

She lives with her husband, John R. Fisher, who until his retirement was active in educational circles. They were married May 9, 1907.

NOW TWO GREAT RINSOS

guaranteed to give you perfect washing results!

"Use Rinso Soap for finest results with blankets, diapers, sweaters, wool socks," says Eleanor B. Cook, former Associate Editor of McCall's—Special Home Laundry Adviser to Rinso.

FOLLOW THIS SUGGESTION of home laundry expert Eleanor B. Cook, and you'll wash these items beautifully every time. Why? "Because Rinso Soap leaves diapers and woolen articles softer and fluffier than any detergent," says Eleanor Cook. "and, incidentally, you pay about 3¢ less a box for Rinso Soap than for most detergents."

"Many women also prefer Rinso

Soap for doing all their family wash, because it really goes to work on dirt. And the SOLIUM leaves sheets and pillowcases so wonderfully white.

"But this is a matter for you to decide, because new Rinso Detergent also contains SOLIUM, and like Rinso Soap it also does a fine job on sheets, curtains, overalls and other things you wash."

"Use this New Rinso Detergent in hard water for your family wash, and for all your dishes and glassware."

"FOR QUICK SUDS in hard water—or soft—you can't beat new Rinso Detergent," says Eleanor Cook. "And these rich suds will do so many things for you so well. Your dresses, for instance—even the new synthetic fabrics. Or cleaning your linoleum floors before waxing. And of course new Rinso Detergent contains SOLIUM, the magic whitener that actually gets towels and your husband's shirts whiter than new!"

"When it comes to dishes and glassware, Rinso Detergent does up to twice as many dishes as last year's most popular detergent—yet it's milder than some detergents made especially for dishwashing."

"Both Rinso Soap and Rinso Detergent are guaranteed to give you perfect washing results, or your purchase price plus postage will be refunded by Lever Brothers Company, New York 22, N. Y."

I USE BOTH RINSOS TO GET THE FINEST RESULTS WITH EVERYTHING I WASH

says MRS. PAUL A. CUNNINGHAM. "I know from experience that soap is better for some jobs, detergent for others—that's why I'm so keen about having two Rinsos in my kitchen now. I've used Rinso for years, and you can't go wrong if the name on the box is Rinso!"

Griffith Asks Pardon Board For Lie Detector Tests, 'Last Resort' Appeal

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Slightly balding Hugh Griffith, 41, sentenced to die in the electric chair Jan. 15 for the shotgun slaying of his wife, Anna, at Sidney last year, pleaded for his life Monday at a special meeting of the State Pardon Board.

Calmly and with no show of nervousness, Griffith suggested that his appeal go to the "Court of Last Resort," a national magazine feature, and that himself, witnesses at the trial and both prosecution and defense attorneys be required to take "lie detector" tests.

Griffith indicated that he wanted out-of-state residents to conduct the court and tests, as he had no confidence in state officials. Gov. Robert Crosby repeatedly pointed out to him that he was appearing before the last resort provided by law.

Action Withheld

The condemned man told the board that he was not informed until Sunday that P. J. Heaton, Sidney attorney who defended him at his trial and appeal to the Supreme Court, would not be present at the Monday hearing. He requested that he be given opportunity to consult with Mrs. Norma VerMaas, Lincoln attorney.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the board withheld action on the clemency plea in order to grant his request to consult with an attorney. No time was set for the board to make a final decision.

Griffith argued that information which would have reflected on the reputation of his wife and on other residents of the area was not presented and that he could obtain witnesses to prove his charges.

No Names Mentioned

Questioned directly on the names of these witnesses, Griffith could mention no names claiming that all of the information was in the hands of his counsel.

The oil field worker said he suspected three or four other people of the crime as his wife had been in frequent trouble and that he knew some of them threatened her.

"Did you shoot your wife, Hugh?" Gov. Crosby asked.

"I did not and I can prove it," Griffith responded.

Had Questions

Griffith presented the board with a list of questions he said he planned to ask Heaton at the hearing. He also insisted that the clothing his wife was wearing be introduced in evidence. He charged that new pictures had been put in the record after the trial but when shown the record was unable to identify them.

County Attorney Jack Knicely of Sidney said the clothing is in the possession of the sheriff and were not introduced nor were color photographs due to fear of inflaming the jury.

Dr. B. F. Finkle, prison physician since 1921 and former assistant superintendent of the Norfolk State hospital; Dr. E. A. Rogers, state director of health, and Dr. F. L. Spradling, superintendent of Lincoln State hospital told of their examination of Griffith as to his sanity.

Understands Reason

Dr. Finkle said that in daily contact with Griffith, he is certain that he understands reason for his conviction and the impending penalty.

Questioned by Attorney General C. S. Beck as to whether Griffith understands present and past actions and the penalty, Dr. Finkel said, "I am sure he does."

Dr. Spradling said that "by and large" he understands but that he is "prone to discount the whole matter." He termed him as "boastful" and having "grandiose" ideas.

Beck pointed out the rule of law that Griffith had to be capable of understanding the proceedings and the doctors agreed that he was, but they qualified statements as to whether he was mentally normal and said a longer examination than they made would be necessary to determine that.

Warden H. H. Hann was asked directly by Beck whether in his frequent visits Griffith appeared to be insane.

"No sir," Hann responded.

County Attorney Knicely termed Griffith "cunning" and expressed the conviction that the crime was "planned" and that the wife had been "terrified" of him for several years.

Sol Willis, Sidney chief of police, answered charges Griffith made against Griffith's wife and Mrs. Catherine Hatcher, whom he termed a good, hard-working farm woman. He said he had never heard a rumor that the two friends miscondacted themselves.

Willis and Sheriff William Schulz told of times they had been called when Mrs. Griffith feared attacks from her husband. Schulz said he had been unable to find any oil workers that knew Griffith at the drilling operations where he said he was at the time of the crime.

Knicely said he was convinced that plans of Griffith to kill his wife had been building up over the years and resulted in action when she decided to divorce him.

He questioned whether the Pardon Board should "weaken the judicial system if penalties are taken out of the hands of juries." Interference with the courts, he said, is causing disrespect for law.

Mrs. John Frerichs, mother of the slain woman, broke down and cried when she told of Griffith keeping her daughter from attending church. She said Griffith boasted that he could kill anyone and a Kansas lawyer could "get him off." She said Griffith was very jealous of his wife.

Wert Frerichs, a brother of the slain woman, burst into tears as he recalled the look of fear on his sister's face when she called him saying that Griffith had threatened to kill her with a butcher knife.

Sheriff Schulz said that Griffith "never denied and never admitted he killed Anna." He said that when he questioned him Griffith boastfully said, "If you're so smart, you find out." Capt. Walter Kennedy of the Lincoln Salvation Army, in a prepared talk, said that he was "spiritual advisor" to Griffith. He said there is conflicting evidence and he believes "no man should die for any crime unless it is without a shadow of doubt as to his guilt."

Knicely said that the Kansas attorney mentioned by Griffith refused to represent him and recommended that he employ local counsel. He said he was convinced that Heaton spent his own money in the defense and obtained all the evidence possible in behalf of Griffith.

Increased Red China Trade Is Jap Aim

Free-Nation Ties Won't Be Broken

TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS)—Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki told a special session of the Diet (Parliament) Monday that Japan intends to seek increased trade with Red China "to the extent that ties with the free nations are not broken."

Okazaki said there was "deep significance" in the recent signing of business contracts by a group of Japanese Diet members who visited Peking and in the repatriation of Japanese nationals from Red China earlier this year.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, also dealing with foreign policy, emphasized the "special importance" Japan attaches to "closer relations with the free nations of Asia."

Seeking Settlement

Yoshida said Japan is "positively striving" for settlement of reparations and other problems with Southeast Asian nations and hopes for early resumption of normal relations with them.

Okazaki reported that Japan's defense plan "will soon take concrete shape" and that negotiations will then open on the "substance" of MSA aid from the United States.

Okazaki said Russia's promise to repatriate 1,247 Japanese nationals was "a matter of congratulation." He said the Russian Red Cross seems to be making an earnest effort to obtain data discrepancy" in Russian and Japanese figures on the number of Japanese still behind the Iron Curtain.

How does the Stock Exchange help investors?

Please don't let anyone tell you that the Stock Exchange is "like a store." Who ever heard of a store where customers buy and sell from each other—but never see each other? And the store doesn't set prices, or own any merchandise, just supervises the buying and selling?

Now you can see where the Stock Exchange gets its name. It's a market where people, often thousands of miles apart, exchange stock for cash, or cash for stock, through brokers. Each day the prices that people paid other people for their shares are published for all to see.

That's not all. Making it easy for people to own shares in America's great corporations is only part of the job.

What else? Well, for one thing, the New York Stock Exchange sets rigid requirements which a corporation must meet at the time its shares are admitted to this market. Only one corporation in 470 has met those requirements. Companies must first show successful management, that they are widely owned, and have earned at least a million dollars in the year before admission.

So important are the companies which do get listed on this Exchange that last year they distributed to their share owners two-thirds of the nation's dividends. These 1,100 companies produce half of all goods made and employ more than eleven million people.

To help you decide which companies meet your investment requirements, and to handle your orders, member firms of the New York Stock Exchange have offices in this and over four hundred other cities. Their experience is yours for the asking.

New Nebraska, S.D. Free Bridge Set For Opening

State Engineer L. N. Ress was scheduled to go to Yankton, S.D., Tuesday to participate in ceremonies opening the new free bridge there between Nebraska and South Dakota.

The reconstructed bridge now carries traffic on two levels. North bound traffic uses the upper level and southbound traffic uses the lower level.

One level was intended originally for a railroad bridge but was never so used.

Nebraska constructed a new approach to the lower deck as the state's part of the remodeling project.

Actual remodeling of the bridge was financed with Army Engineer funds in connection with the Gavin's Point Dam project.

Diers Agrees Mental Staff Inadequate; Silent On Proposal 1 Hospital Enough

Chairman W. H. Diers of the State Board of Control agreed Monday with Supt. G. Lee Sandritter of the Hastings State Hospital that more personnel is needed for the state's mental institutions.

But he had no comment on Dr. Sandritter's assertion that one hospital would be adequate for the mental health needs of the entire state "if it is adequately staffed."

"We're going ahead with our building program," Diers said. A million dollar construction program is under way at the Hastings institution. Contracts were awarded last week for a new 200-bed medical and surgical building, and an addition to the psychiatric hospital building will provide 150 more beds.

Diers recalled a geriatrics building already had been completed at the Hastings institution in recent years, along with a new building for the Lincoln State Hospital and two at Norfolk.

Dr. Sandritter expressed his views in a speech at Hastings in which he said he had asked the Hastings Association for the Advancement of Mental Health to name committees to study the efficiency of the three state hospitals.

"Our board is just as cognizant of conditions as Dr. Sandritter, but I don't care to engage in a fight in the newspapers," Diers commented.

"Everybody is entitled to his opinion," the board chairman added.

Chiefs Eye Class A Draft At Atlanta Confab Today

Six Clubs 'Interested'; Omaha First 1954 Foe

Lincoln Star Special
ATLANTA (AP)—The Lincoln Chiefs will open the 1954 Western League season against Omaha at Sherman Field.

That was determined Monday as the minor league winter meetings started.

"We will know more of Lincoln's status as a major league tie-up and the player personnel today when the Class A player draft starts," A. L. (Pat) Minier, treasurer of the Chiefs, told The Star.

Minier was encouraged by the interest shown in the Chiefs by major league organizations. The Lincoln Club is seeking for a stronger tie than the present limited agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

"We have been contacted by a number of teams, including Cleveland, Baltimore, Washington, the New York Yankees, the Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit," said Minier. "It has been encouraging in that these teams have shown enough interest to come to us. All of them have offered player assistance, but we haven't gone as far as discussing working agreements."

The Milwaukee organization continues to "offer encouragement," Minier explained, and the Braves have offered some prospects for the positions of general manager and field skipper.

General Manager Arthur Ehlers of Baltimore, who engineered Lincoln's tie with the Phils in 1947, is reportedly interested in adding the Chiefs to the chain of his new ball club.

Along with putting together a temporary schedule, the Western League solons elected Sen. Johnson (D-Colo.) as acting treasurer for the circuit for 1954. Johnson also is president of the league.

At a meeting Monday, the league also adopted a 154-game schedule for next season, opening April 17 and ending Sept. 12.

A resolution expressing regret at the resignation of Treasurer Robert Hall was passed. Hall handed in his resignation Sunday, giving no reason for the decision. Johnson said Hall also had resigned as president of the Omaha Cardinals.

The Omaha Cardinals, meanwhile got a new general manager.

Named general manager was L. W. (Bill) Bergesch of St. Louis. He succeeds Don Dix.

William Walsingham, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals system, phoned the Cardinals office from Atlanta, to announce the selection.

He said an announcement will be made later about a president to succeed Hall.

Bergesch, 31, joined the Cardinals organization in 1947. In 1947 and 1948 he was general manager of the Albany, Ga., club of the Class D Georgia-Florida league. In 1949 and 1950 he served as president of the Winston-Salem club of the Class B Carolina league.

For the past three seasons Bergesch has been general manager of the Columbus, Ga., club of the Class A South Atlantic League.

A's Name Galan Coach

ATLANTA (AP)—Augie Galan, veteran major league outfielder-infielder and 1933 manager of Oakland of the Pacific Coast League, Monday was named a coach of the Philadelphia A's by Manager Eddie Joost.

Galan joined Wally Moses on the coaching staff being organized by Joost, new A's manager. A pitching coach, to be named later, will complete the staff.

Lead Plainsmen In Opener

Ag College Gym Scene of Game Tonight

Wesleyan Opens Cage Card Against Dana

Nebraska Wesleyan will open its 1953-54 basketball season tonight when the Plainsmen play host to Paul Johnson's veteran Dana College five.

The Plainsmen, who will not be able to play in their new physical education building until after the first of the year, will face their initial foe on the University of Nebraska Ag college maples. Starting time is 7:30 p.m.

Coach Irvin L. Peterson announced Monday that a veteran quintet will answer the opening whistle against the strong invading Vikings.

Jim Lightbody and Scotty Willoughby, regulars of a year ago, will man the guard posts with John Harden at the center spot and Mel Sheary and Lyle Buell at the forwards.

Lightbody, a forward for the past three seasons, has been moved back to the playmaking slot this season but will alternate with Sheary on the front line.

Sheary, a deadly outside shooter, will man the outside position on certain patters to permit Lightbody to use his ability to drive up-court.

Little advance dope has reached Lincoln from the Blair school, but Coach Paul Peterson is known to be fielding a veteran outfit built around Fritz Youra, Merion Hudson and Mark Thompson. Stan Cole, the Plattsmouth sophomore who spent a semester on the Wesleyan campus a year ago, is a member of the Dana squad.

Plainsmen fans believe that Buell, an ex-Murdoch flash who has earned two Wesleyan letters, may develop into one of the club's top scorers this season. The 6 foot, 2 inch junior forward has shown consistent improvement this winter.

The 1952-53 Plainsmen, who shattered all school scoring records while winning 25 out of 28 games last year, opened a year ago by whipping Dana 87 to 54.

Four of the top six scorers from that team will be missing from tonight's 1953-54 debut.

Leahy Returns
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Four guards, one end and a halfback were on Notre Dame's injury list Monday and the entire football squad was excused from practices.

Coach Frank Leahy, returning to his desk after a week end of rest at home while his team crushed USC at Los Angeles 42-7, ordered heavy drills to start Tuesday.

Saturday's game here with Southern Methodist will end Notre Dame's season.

Temporarily on the injury list are Guards Pat Biscaglia, Menil Mavrides, Jack Lee and Ray Lemek; Captain Don Penza. Right end, and Halfback Joe Heap. All had knee, ankle or leg injuries.

13 Players Drafted On First Day

By JACK HAND

ATLANTA (AP)—The major leagues dipped into the "minor league talent pool" for 13 players at an investment of $132,500 Monday in the annual bargain sale that opens the winter baseball meetings.

Baltimore, heir to the St. Louis Browns' No. 1 pick, nabbed Second Baseman Vinicio Garcia, a .305 hitter at Shreveport in the Texas League. The Orioles also took 30-year-old Outfielder Chuck Diering, former Giant and Cardinal, from San Francisco. Diering played the 1952 season at Minneapolis where he hit a surprising .322.

Detroit, Cleveland, the Chicago White Sox and Baltimore each drafted two men and the Philadelphia A's one for a total of nine by American League clubs.

The National picked only four, one each by Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis. Seven clubs passed when their names were called, including the world champion New York Yankees and pennant winning Brooklyn Dodgers.

Five pitchers, five infielders and three outfielders were selected, two more than the 1952 draft of 11 players for $120,000.

Branch Rickey Jr. of Pittsburgh picked a bright young New York Yankee prospect when he took Outfielder Gerald Lynch from the Kansas City list.

Lynch led the Piedmont League in hitting with a .333 mark at Norfolk last season and set the pace with 120 hits, 33 doubles, 22 triples, 113 runs batted in and 20 total bases. He also hit 21 home runs.

Cleveland may have grabbed a "sleeper" in Shortstop Tom Kozowski, a New York Giants farmhand off their Minneapolis list.

The Indians actually went down to Class A to get the infielder who played with Wilkes-Barre, Pa. of the Eastern League last year and batted .265. Cleveland's other selection was right-handed pitcher Don Fracchia, a 15-12 performer at Beaumont in the Texas League. Fracchia is a former third baseman.

The Brooklyn chain lost two men when the Athletics selected Second Baseman Forrest Jacobs from Montreal and Cincinnati took right-handed Pitcher Jim Melton from St. Paul. Jacobs played at Ft. Worth and hit .282 before the Brooks moved him up to Montreal. Melton had a 10-10 record and a 4.40 earned run average at Mobile of the South-east.

Auburn And Texas Tech Named Gator Bowl Foes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Texas Tech, Border Conference champion, and Auburn, Southeastern Conference surprise team of the year, were picked Monday for the ninth annual Gator Bowl football game here New Year's Day.

Branch Rickey Jr. of Pittsburgh picked a bright young New York Yankee prospect when he took Outfielder Gerald Lynch from the Kansas City list.

Lynch led the Piedmont League in hitting with a .333 mark at Norfolk last season and set the pace with 120 hits, 33 doubles, 22 triples, 113 runs batted in and 20 total bases. He also hit 21 home runs.

The Firing Line

Christmas being a mere 25 days away, may we suggest some gifts for the Lincoln Chiefs?

Santa Claus, in this instance, must be the parent Milwaukee Braves and the Sherman Field stocking could best be filled with (1) a general manager and (2) a more generous sprinkling of player talent, (3) outright sponsorship by the Braves, rather than the present limited working agreement.

Points 1 and 2 were answered somewhat in a letter from Farm Director John W. Mullen of the Braves to The Firing Line.

"I know very little about the ability of your general manager, Johnny Maher, but from my observation the Chiefs could do worse in hiring someone else for 1954," Mullen writes. "Although we have never asked to assist in naming his successor (provided one is desired at this time, as to the managerial situation, we have already recommended two fine gentlemen for the job at Lincoln for 1954. However, because the Lincoln club had not definitely decided to continue the working agreement with the Braves, they were not in a position to make a decision on either of the two gentlemen we recommended. This is understandable since if the Lincoln club makes a full working agreement with some other organization at the Atlanta convention, then that organization will want to have a big voice in the naming of the Lincoln manager for 1954."

Well, Mr. Maher was pretty much squeezed out of the picture. After being left out of most board meetings in August and September, he retreated to his home in Tyler, Tex., and resumed his former employment in the post office there. When he wasn't asked to represent the Chiefs in Atlanta, Maher was untarried bowed out of the picture.

A hard worker and a sound baseball head, Maher wasn't a front man or salesman in the class of his predecessor, Bill Hayes. You don't often grab a dynamo like Hayes who can sell $18,000 worth of advertising during the cold winter months.

It would be greatly to the Chiefs' advantage if the Braves sent out a general manager under a board of directors in an indefinite set-up is a task we wouldn't wish on anyone.

It would be so much better to have the boss directly accountable to the Braves, rather than to a board of directors, who, although sincere enough, probably does not know too much about the intricacies of organized baseball.

Chances are a field skipper out of the Milwaukee system could assure the Chiefs a closer liaison with the parent club. It would also help get a superior brand of talent, since the Braves would have one of the family doing the developing.

Here's hoping that the trio of Lincoln representatives at Atlanta succeed in hiring a general manager and that he be out of the Braves system.

That's the first step. Then will come the January drive for funds and, before you know it, spring training will be here.

LONDON (AP)—Britain booted the 28-year-old king of Buganda from his throne Monday for insisting upon a definite date for independence within the British commonwealth for his 90,000 subjects. The king opposed also the British plan for a federation of East African territories.

A state of emergency was declared in Buganda province, the largest and most important in Uganda, British's rich cotton-producing protectorate in East Africa.

Ordered Into Exile

Cambridge-educated King Mutesa II, ordered into exile, was reported flying to London. Whether he was accompanied by Queen Catherine, 23, also English-educated, was not known here.

The action marked the first upset in arrangements for Queen Elizabeth's globe-girdling tour of the commonwealth. Elizabeth and the duke of Edinburgh had planned to meet Mutesa and his queen at his palace next April.

It was the second time in recent weeks that Britain had cracked down in one of her outlying territories.

Iglouville, North Pole.
Dec. 1

DEAR CHILDREN:

I have never seen such a wonderful woman as Mrs. Claus. She is everywhere at once, always right where she is needed.

Last night I sat up late working at my dollbench. The elves had gone to bed, and I thought Mrs. Claus was in bed, too. The northern lights were shining through my windows.

A couple of little mice in a corner of the shop were tittering over a joke about whether they were men or mice. I wasn't a bit lonely, but I began to get sleepy. I nodded at my work, and when I woke up Mrs. Claus was standing behind me. She said, "I've brought you a lunch of milk and cookies."

And then Mrs. Claus began to laugh. "Santa, she said, 'why are you putting a pirate's mustache on a bride doll?' Oh, HO! HO! HO! That was just what I had done! We both laughed until we cried. Then we ate the cookies and drank the milk, and I took the mustache right off the bride.

It sleeted yesterday on top of the snow and I thought it would be a good time to haul up a load of Christmas trees from Cedar Grove. I wanted the trees for certain little boys and girls I know.

But on the way I slipped and my feet flew out from under me. I sat down hard on the sled, and it started sliding. Away we went, the sled and I, down hill and up hill. The wind whipped my whiskers and tingled my cheeks. I lost my mittens, and my feet stuck straight out.

Finally the sled slowed down and I got off. I felt myself all over. I wasn't hurt a bit. My, that was a fine ride I had!

Love,
Santa Claus

Fremont Liquor Loan Described

The State Liquor Commission Monday received testimony that James Sutton, salesman for an Omaha wholesaler, loaned Ace Liquors, Inc., of Fremont $6,000 with which to buy liquor in July, 1950.

The evidence showed that final payment on retraining the loan was in October, 1951.

The Fremont firm was cited for accepting a loan from a representative of a wholesaler, in alleged violation of state regulations, and for alleged falsification of its license application.

Majority Stockholder

Testimony Monday was that Sutton was a majority stockholder in the company, but his name did not appear on the license renewal application from year to year.

State regulations require the listing of all persons with more than a one-fourth interest in the business on the license application.

Sutton was identified as a salesman for Ed Phillips and Sons of Omaha. The Fremont firm is charged also with selling to customers on credit.

About 30 persons, including witnesses, attended the hearing.

Help for dry hair

Are you unhappy with your hair because it is dry and brittle? Now there is an easy way to make dry hair softer, easier to manage, prettier in every way. Just use Tame, the new invisible hair-dressing.

Tame conditions your hair in a wonderful new way. You don't spray it on. You don't smear it on. You rinse it on. And that makes a marvelous difference. Every dry, brittle strand is completely and evenly covered with a delicate, transparent solution that's like nature's own oils. Yet, it never leaves your hair greasy or stiff. Tame makes dry, frizzy hair silkier, easier to arrange. It gives dull, lifeless-looking hair a healthy shine.

Use Tame after every shampoo and home permanent, too. You'll find Tame at your favorite toiletries counter in 30c, 60c, and $1.00 sizes plus Fed. tax. No matter how dry your hair is right now, it can be lovelier than you have thought possible.
